

CAN'T DECIDE

M.Doerr (1997)

I've always been the loser, the one lying on the ground,
I've never been a chooser, 'cos solutions not been found.
So many things are planned, and so little things are done.
Find myself in a land with the question, where to run.

Day by day, I think about it.
Day by day, I wanna get it right.
I know it's time to make decisions,
But I have problems to decide.

It's not easy to forget it, the words you said to me.
But believe me, I regret it, it's not the way that's meant to be.
Everything I missed out doing is resistant in your mind,
A dangerous fluid is brewing, problems now been underlined.

Day by day, I think about it.
Day by day, I wanna get it right.
I know it's time to make decisions,
But I have problems to decide.

Risks and chances, to be weak, to be strong,
Zig-zag-dances, to be right, to be wrong.
My way of behaviour will get a new name,
But me is still me and will ever be the same.

I won't get rid off pressure, till decisions have been made,
I have the strength to make it, I know it's not too late.

Day by day, I think about it.
Day by day, I'm trying to decide.
I'm strong enough to make decisions,
And now I know, it's getting right.
